This question probably won't get many answers, but it's high on my list of "most important" questions. So if anyone can point me in the right direction, it would be greatly appreciated. A: You can click the link in the list on the right. Or in full, using The bill — which also calls for the establishment of a “Prescription Drug Abuse Prevention Board” to “combat prescription drug abuse, illegal and unsafe pharmaceutical practices, and counterfeiting by pharmaceutical manufacturers and to promote appropriate use of medications” — passed on a voice vote Monday night. Sen. Doug Lamborn, R-Colorado Springs, the chair of the Health Committee, said the bill was written to fight what he called “growing problems” of opioid abuse in the state. “Specifically with this statute, the abuse is driven by sales representatives,” he said. “This law just addresses the sales representatives.” Lamborn said the board would be comprised of three people, one of whom would be a medical doctor, one of whom would be a pharmacist and one of whom would be an educator. The board would have six members. The bill also creates a “Prescription Drug Abuse Prevention Advisory Board,” which would include eight members: two members appointed by the governor, two by the Lieutenant Governor, one by the state medical society, two by the state pharmacy board, and one by the state board of pharmacy. The board’s purpose, according to the bill, is to “advance and promote responsible prescription drug use through research and education.” “We have had a slight uptick in substance abuse,” Lamborn said. “You’ve got quite a few cases of drug dealers saying that they will feed a guy the fentanyl.” “When you get people in prison, it seems like it’s on the rise,” he continued. “They’re coming in and saying they’ve
